

2015-16 Equity in Athletics Disclosure Act (EADA) Report

For the academic year July 1, 2015 - June 30, 2016 • Released October 15, 2016

— ALL REQUIRED TABLES FOLLOW THESE DESCRIPTIONS —

Athletic Opportunities

Dartmouth College offers one of the nation's most comprehensive intercollegiate athletic programs, with nearly 1,000 of its 4,200 undergraduates representing the College at the varsity level in 35 sports. Dartmouth teams compete at the highest levels of collegiate competition — NCAA Division I — and as members of the Ivy League, an eight-school athletic conference formed in 1954 on principles of academic and athletic excellence and the awarding of financial aid solely on the basis of need. There is no athletically-related student aid.

Dartmouth is committed to providing equitable athletic opportunities for men and women, in terms of both the number of opportunities available and the quality of the experience. In the 1990s, the annual budget for women's athletics was increased significantly as the College expanded the breadth of women's athletic opportunities — including two new funded varsity sports — to keep pace with the growing percentage of women in the undergraduate student body. On July 1, 2015, women's rugby was elevated to the varsity level to further increase women's opportunities. In 2015-16, women comprised 49.4% of Dartmouth's undergraduate enrollment and 45.7% of our varsity athletes. The Athletics Department conducts regular administrative reviews to ensure continued provision of equitable athletic opportunities.

Note on Table 1:

• Athletic participation figures include all subvarsity athletes who are considered varsity participants as defined by federal regulations for EADA reporting.

Operating Expenses

Operating expenses, as defined by the EADA, include uniforms, equipment, officials, transportation, lodging, and meals. Coaching salaries and recruiting costs are not included.

Dartmouth is committed to providing its varsity teams with resources that enable an equitable quality of experience for men and women. In some sports, in which the basic rules and nature of the sport are similar for both genders, the overall resources required to provide equitable experiences for male and female student-athletes are very similar for both teams. In other sports, basic differences necessitate larger budgets for one gender than the other. For example, due to the physical contact and the need for protective equipment, it costs much more to equip each male athlete on the football team than each female athlete on the field hockey, softball, or volleyball team, for the same quality of experience. Similarly, differences in the rules and the nature of men's and women's ice hockey lead to much larger equipment costs for the men's team than the women's.

For team travel, Dartmouth's Athletics Department uses a standard "per diem" allowance for lodging and meals to ensure equitable treatment of all athletes. Therefore differences in travel expenditures are primarily a reflection of the differences in squad size and schedule length, both of which are governed by NCAA and Ivy League regulations.

It should also be noted that each team's expenditures fluctuate significantly from one year to the next, due to variations in home-and-away schedules, special trips, qualifications for post-season championships, and large equipment and uniform purchases that are made on a rotating basis every few years.

Notes on Table 4:

- Men's rowing expenses include heavyweight and lightweight teams.
- Coed team expenses are prorated for the number of participants by gender.
- Student out-of-pocket travel expenses are not included.

Recruiting Resources And Competitive Success

Dartmouth is committed to providing recruiting resources that enable its coaches of men's and women's teams to achieve comparable competitive success. In some sports, the cost of doing so is very similar for both genders, while in other sports, the cost differs significantly, especially if the size of the recruiting base or the degree of competition for top recruits is much greater for one gender than the other. In recent years, our women's athletic program has been highly successful, with many Dartmouth women's teams capturing league championships, achieving Division I national rankings, and advancing to postseason competition.

Recruiting expenditures shown in Table 5 include: transportation, meals, and all other expenses for recruits' campus visits; transportation, lodging, and meals for coaches' recruiting travel; printing of recruiting brochures; and estimated cost of postage and phone charges incurred during the recruiting process.

Revenues

In order to provide the highest possible quality of experience for all student-athletes, Dartmouth seeks to supplement the College's operating budget by generating additional financial support from such sources as alumni donations, corporate advertising, and ticket sales. In no sport does the amount of revenue cover the full cost of the program, so in every sport the College provides additional resources from the central budget, and does so in a manner that ensures an equitable quality of experience for men's and women's teams, regardless of each particular team's ability to cover a portion of its costs through ticket sales, donations, or other revenues.

Coaching Salaries

Dartmouth is committed to providing its men's and women's teams with coaches of comparable high quality. Salaries for all professional positions at the College are established within guidelines set by the Office of Human Resources and are determined without regard to gender. Differences in individual coaches' salaries are attributable to such factors as years of experience, size of squad and coaching staff, educational credentials, specific job responsibilities, and other non-discriminatory factors.

Note on Tables 2A, 2B, 3A, and 3B:

- Dartmouth coaches are considered full-time if they are assigned to that team on a full-time basis for nine or more months per year.

TABLE 1 - ATHLETICS PARTICIPATION

Federal regulations require that the following information, based on the previous reporting year, be available for inspection by students, prospective students, and the public by October 15 of each year.

This table lists the number of participants by gender for each varsity team. According to the published federal regulations governing EADA reporting, a participant is defined as a student-athlete who, as of the day of a varsity team's first scheduled contest -

- (a) is listed by the institution on the varsity team's roster; or
- (b) receives athletically related student aid; or
- (c) practices with the varsity team and receives coaching from one or more varsity coaches.

Any student-athlete who satisfies one or more of these criteria is a participant, including a student on a team the institution designates or defines as junior varsity, freshman, or novice, or a student withheld from competition to preserve eligibility (i.e., a redshirt) or for academic, medical, or other reasons.
